

Will your next technology project be rapidly developed, successfully implemented and deliver tangible business results?

Get more from your technology. Take a fresh approach

As specialists in financial technology, we help our clients get more from their technology systems, because technology is a means to an end, not an end in itself.

Business benefits, technical solutions

By providing new ideas and technical solutions, we can help you improve your trading performance - exploiting new market opportunities, reducing risk, achieving efficiency and complying with the latest regulations.

With extensive finance experience and advanced technical skills, our consultants can identify the market trends that could benefit your business or the changes in technology that might impact on your operations.

Designer technology

While every project is unique, our consultancy approach stays the same. Based on independent advice, each solution we propose is specifically customised to meet your complex business and technical requirements.

We can enhance your existing capability by developing our own software solution. Alternatively, we can recommend and implement suitable off-the-shelf products, adapting them to greatly extend their functionality, and integrate them seamlessly with your systems to ensure the perfect fit.

Taking care of project risk

To deliver each project reliably and get a better result, we encourage close working relationships based on trust and communication. We build a small, highly-skilled project team to work right alongside your own people, based either in your premises or close by in our riverside office in London.

Our adaptable approach to resourcing means we can assess a new project quickly and move to meet any challenging deadlines. With a large team of full-time consultants, we can always provide the right people with the right skills throughout every stage of a project's development.

RiskCare's consultants are dedicated to helping investment banking and asset management clients get more from their technology.

Our services include:

- Technology consulting
- Software development
- Systems integration

Most of our clients are top-tier financial institutions, where we supply on-going financial technology services as a strategic provider.

"We recognised that building a bespoke system offered considerable advantages both operationally and analytically, but with these came considerable risk.

It was clear RiskCare knew what they were doing and we felt instinctively that this was the right fit for us."

Elgin Capital

RiskCare has provided creative technology consulting and software development for the financial markets industry since 1994.

Our expertise

We understand financial markets

Our in-depth knowledge of financial markets spans buy and sell side operations. By understanding the expectations of dealers and brokers, we can provide fast reliable trading tools and accurate analytical models that deliver a competitive edge.

Extensive knowledge of third-party technologies

We never just take things out of the box. We use our extensive technical skills to customise off-the-shelf products and improve their functionality. By integrating them into new, more effective systems, we can better meet our client's precise specification.

Multi-skilled technical consultants

Experts in their field, we encourage our team of multi-skilled developers to share and develop their ideas. Combining their project experience with a culture of mentoring and support means we are continuously investing in our skills and this provides even greater insight for our clients.

The art of innovation

Rarely is the best solution the easiest. Since 1994 we have embraced the most complex analytical challenges, using our valuable, in-depth skills in financial engineering to develop new and innovative solutions that are also practical to deploy and provide long-term operational performance.

Seamless project delivery

We manage our projects safely all the way from concept through to completion. By maintaining a strict attention to detail and providing rigorous testing, we ensure quality results are consistently delivered and on time.

We provide customised technology solutions through:

- Technology consulting
reviewing business processes and designing technology systems that improve trading performance
- Software development
building high-quality, innovative systems that deliver greater capability than off-the-shelf alternatives
- Systems integration
selecting and implementing technologies from market-leading external providers and extending them to improve their functionality

"RiskCare has been a key contributor to our Risk Management projects over a number of years.

We would have no hesitation in recommending their expertise and commitment to project delivery."
